ROYAL YAKUTI
This Yakuti or life-giving nectar has been prepared from the best, choicest and richest vegetable drugs. It has wonderful properties of increasing virile power and it retotlies urinary disorders. In fact it makes man, a man. This valuable medicine is used in large quantities not only by our Rajas, Maharajas, Nawabs and many of the nobility, aristocracy and gentry in this country; but it is greatly patronised by people in all countries of Europe, America, Asia and Africa. It is needless to expatiate upon the magical qualities of this our invaluable medicine. We recommend it especially to those persons who desire to tone the nervous system to strengthen the body, refresh the memory and to guard against debility. Suffice it to say that the use of this medicine is recommended to those who have any faith in the Ayurvedic medicines. It works like a charm and the effect is lasting. It replaces lost power and rejuvenates the emanciated and it is enough to say that musk is not that which a perfumer admires. It is that which difuses fragnace of its own accord. ALI BROTHERS' DAY.

APPEAL OF CENTRAL KHILAFAT OFFICE.

The office of the Central Khilafat Committee, Bombay, has issued the following appeal, dated Bombay, 25th October, 1922:—

"With November 1st began the sufferings and imprisonment of Maulanas Mohammad Ali and Shaukat Ali, Husain Ahmad, Nisar Ahmad Pir Gulam Mojaddid and Dr. Kitchlew in incarceration. To all-India the day is sacred. They observe it as the "Ali Brothers' Day." Their names infuse spirit of self-sacrifice and fellow-feeling. In the present hours of jubilation over the brilliant victories of Ghazi Mustafa Kemal Pasha, bear in mind the real hour of trial and toil that has just commenced. Islam demands Jazirat-ul-Arab Arabia, Syria, Palestine, Mesopotamia free from non-Muslim control.

In the name of the Karachi-trial prisoners I appeal Indians, specially my co-religionists, to redouble energies in a complete constructive programme. The world watches our movements, and sympathisers await results. The bureaucracy considers us exhausted. The present circumstances urge us to work in harmony, oblivious of dissensions and quarrels. For Ali Brothers' sake those still in foreign clothes should adopt Khadder, each of us still outside jail should at least make ten others to wear Khaddar. As the heroes are suffering, make the suffering bring forth good results. Finally, subscribe munificently to the Taiyara Fund to present at least two aeroplanes to the Grand National Assembly of Turkey. Try your level best for paying subscriptions for the presents worthy of Indian Mussalmans. Provincial District Subordinate Khilafat Committee asked to make the Ali Brothers' Day a complete success by taking oaths and promises for wearing Khaddar and raising the Taiyara Fund. Our efforts are nearing success. Screw your courage and we will not fail."

Under the auspices of the Parsi Rajkeya Sabha, there will be a Public Meeting at the Marwadi Vidyalaya Hall on Wednesday 1st inst. at 6.30 p.m. (S.T.) to celebrate Ali Brothers' Day, when Mrs. Gokhale, Dr. Rajbali, Pandit Mukund Malaviya, Messrs. K. F. Nariman and M. M. Madan will speak and Mr. Pickthall will preside.

ALI BROTHERS' DAY IN POONA.

Under the auspices of the Poona Camp Khilafat Committee, there will be a public meeting at the Sacharir Gulab Park Camp, Poona, on the 1st proximo at 5 p.m. to celebrate the Ali Brothers' Day, when Seth Abdulla Ishaq will preside.

PARSIS AND PERSIA.

APPRECIATON BY SIR P. SYKES.

The following is taken from a letter dated London 29-9-22, addressed to a Vice-President of the "Iran League" by General Sir Percy Sykes:—

"I am entirely in sympathy with the idea that the Parsis should play a leading part in the regeneration of Persia. Nothing is more striking than the consciousness of race that the world war has produced. The Parsis would benefit their own home and also themselves, for a people does not live by material prosperity alone, but also by its ideals. Parsis are far too luxurious and are (or were) unwilling to face hardships or dangers, as their forefathers did, and in this lack of spirit lies a great danger to the entire community. Surely members of the business community can visit South Persia and study the question on the spot. But it must be the rich Parsis and the leaders who should go. If merely men of no weight are sent, none will listen to them.

I have recently brought out a boiled-down edition of my history and am sending you a copy. It should be useful for schools and colleges.

I am glad that you agree with what I have written on this deeply interesting subject.

Yours, etc.,

(Sd.) PERCY SYKES."

PARSI WAR MEMORIAL.

Referring to the suggestion to commemorate the services of those Parsis who went, served and died on the battlefields during the last war, Mr. Wadia of the Rathestar Mandal says that, under the auspices of the Rathestar Mandal a public gathering on a grand scale will be held at the Sir Cowasji Jehangir Hall on Saturday, the 11th of November next, at 5-15 p.m. when the services of the Parsi warriors will be narratted by Mr. Paymaster and other speakers who actually took part in the war, and songs specially composed in honour of the Parsi dead will be sung and the portraits of the departed heroes will be exhibited by lantern slides, etc. A small committee will be formed to consider what steps should be taken to perpetuate in a befitting manner the memory of those who gave their lives in service of the humanity.

Mr. Wadia requests Parsi readers to be so good as to furnish the names and all the available particulars, especially the dates on which the Parsis in active service lost their lives, either to him (72, Apollo Street) or to Mr. R. B. Paymaster (Nabob Building, Kalbadevi Post).

CASH VS. CREDIT TRANSACTIONS.

MEETING OF SHARE BROKERS' ASSOCIATION.

An extraordinarp general meeting of the Share Brokers' Association was held at the Association's Hall on Saturday afternoon Mr. Haridas Vasanji presiding.

At the outset the meeting discussed the question of cash transactions against the future credit settlement. It was moved that from January 1923 only cash transactions be executed. Mr. Ardeshir Madon opposed the motion saying cash transactions have never been successful in any part of the world. Even in dealings with the foreign countries by shipment, credit was allowed. If business in future settlement was not allowed no work in the share Bazar could be done.

Mr. Jamnadas Kuhsal said in the last four years shares of six mills were cornered. This prompted the signatories of the Association to call the meeting, but he thought it would be to the interests of all parties if future settlements business was continued.

Mr. Jagjivan Ujjamsey deplored that a certain Syndicate was cornering the market by future settlements. Even the Board appointed by the Government had not proved successful. But in spite of all this he thought cash business was not necessary for the present.

Mr. Maneckji P. Bharucha said if they were forced to do business by cash system the business would be at a standstill. He therefore, was of opinion that business in future settlement should be allowed to continue.

The Chairman explained that the Board was doing its duty disinterestedly and with a considerable self-sacrifice and he assured the meeting that the Board would never work against the interest of the Association.

On taking votes the motion of dealing in future, was agreed to with only two dissentients.

Mr. Jamnadas Khusal then proposed and Mr. Wadia seconded that in case the Board failed to convene a meeting the requisitionist signed by more than 50 voters giving notice of three days could call a meeting and their resolutions be considered constitutional.

Mr. Damadhar Kalianjee, one of the signatories to the requisition, withdrew his signature at this stage on the ground that he had signed without reading the contents.

There was a great uproar at this stage and some of the members grew noisy and clamorous. Some suggested that seventy five members should sign the requisition while some were in favour of 75 signatures. One member moved an amendment for 101 signatures on the requisition with 14 days notice to convene a meeting, but this resolution was lost by a large majority. The Chairman then moved the original proposition that the requisition be signed by more than 50 members with three days' notice and it was passed.

After going through some other business the meeting dispersed.

SHARE BAZAR.

GENERAL TONE.

The Market opened weak this morning but later on, owing to active purchases by well known Operators, improved considerably.

Kohinoors, Simplex and New Great attracted most attention.

Kohinoors:—At the begining the Market declined to 850. At this level a well known Ahmedabad operator appeared on the scene to cover his sales and some brokers on behalf of the Finlay Syndicate came to buy. This brought up the Market to 1020.

Simplex Declined to 350. At this level it is said that a Marwari Director of the Company, purchased nearly 800 shares and the closing rate was 592½.

Bharuchas. It was feared that the general meeting of the Share Brokers, the resolution to stop the "forward" transactions in these shares might be carried which caused nervousness in the Market and brought down prices. Later on, certain brokers on behalf of a well-known Mill owner appeared to be buying at a limited price and so further decline was checked.

Nagpurs and Swadeshi. The resolution to stop "forward" business, having been carried, it prevented several parties from taking any interest in these shares.

In Bombay Dyeing, the Bears were covering. There were short sales and good demand from investors.

The tone of the tramway shares was weak on account of the strike.

THE LATE DR. PRABHAKAR.

We regret to announce the death of Dr. G. B. Prabhakar, the well-known oculist of ombay, from heart trouble, which took place at his residence on the evening of Saturday, the 28th instant, at an advanced age. Passing the Metriculation Examination, in 1874, from the Prabhu Seminary, he entered the Grant Medical College and took his final degree in medicine and surgery in 1879. He then went to England to make a special study of eye diseases, and since his return steadily pursued his profession with ability and renown He was for some time a Fellow of the Bombay University and the Senior Opthalmic Surgeon in the Sir Cowasji Jehangir Hospital for Eye Diseases. His genial nature had endeared him to all with whom he came in contact either in his professional or civic capacity. To the poor, who suffered from eye diseases, his treatment was generally free. He had long been connected with various institutions belonging to his community or otherwise. The funeral was largely attended. Dr. Prabhakar's eldest son, Dr. Narayan G. B. Prabhakar, has, like his father, made a special study of eye diseases in European hospitals, and has already settled in his profession in this city and earned popularity.

BOMBAY POLICE COURT.

ALL OVER DOGS.

At the Dadar Police Court, on Saturday morning, before Mr. Indravagan N. Mehta, Additional Presidency Magistrate, in the case of Tukaram Govind, a mill-hand, charged with causing hurt with a stone to Dorabji Framji, residing in the "Fountain Hall" at Parel.

The Magistrate, in the course of his judgment, observed that there was no sufficient evidence to corroborate the complainant and his servant Maikulal. It was improbable that when the Bhaiya was armed with a stick the accused could have struck him with a stone. The complainant in his evidence said that the accused struck him with a stone and did not throw it at him, but looking to the position of the wound on the complainant's head and the evidence of the doctor on the point, it seemed to him that the wound was not caused by a stone being struck on the complainant's head. The evidence of the complainant and his witnesses seemed to have been exaggerated. Under the circumstances, his Worship did not think that even if the evidence was not rebuged, it would warrant a conviction. He therefore, ordered the accused to be acquitted.

DEATH OF A EUROPEAN FROM FALL.

CORONER'S COURT VERDICT.

On Sunday morning about 6 o'clock Ernest Coomane, a European staying at the Hotel Majestic, Wodehouse Road, was found lying dead on the balcony on the first storey.

CORONER'S COURT PROCEEDINGS.

A post mortem examination was held on the body of a European, named Ernest Coomraine at the Morgue. An inquest was held on the body by Mr. King, the Coroner, on Sunday evening.

Mr. Charles Larson, Manager of the Majestic Hotel, said that the deceased resided at the Majestic Hotel from the 20th October. He was on his way to Seychelles. On the night of the 28th, at 7 o'clock the deceased asked witness to send for a doctor and Dr. Nunan came and gave him a sceping draught. The deceased occupied a room on the fourth floor. At about 6-15 a.m. yesterday he heard from one of the hotel servants that a gentleman was lying dead on the first floor and witness found he was the one who had sent for a doctor that night. Witness sent for the police immediately. The deceased had funds and had given £100 (one hundred only) to be kept in the safe. He had resided once before at the hotel for three or four days. He was addicted to liquor. If he took liquor to excess he must have got some from outside. The railing on the inner side were sufficiently high to prevent a man from falling down accidentally. The deceased was alone in his room. He did not complain of any trouble. Witness saw the doctor when he called. The deceased did not complain of sleeplessness. Witness saw him drunk.

Fair Mahomed Lal Mahomed, a butler, said the deceased was his master. He (witness) worked for him all day and went home at night. On the night of the 28th about 9 o'clock witness went for a doctor, who came. Witness brought the medicine from Messrs. Thomson and Taylor. The bottle was full. There was only a portion of the medicine left. The deceased was dressed in bed. He allowed witness to go home and he went. He drank liquor. The two bottles of whisky found by the police were full.

Vithu Babaji, a Namal of the hotel, said he was asleep on the 3rd floor of the hotel, when he heard a thud and looked down and saw the deceased lying on the 1st floor near the railing.

Inspector Spiers said he made enquiries into the case and searched the room occupied by the deceased. He found nothing to show that he intended to commit suicide. He found the sleeping-draught in the room. The deceased appeared to have been in comfortable circumstances. There was no sign of any disturbance and there was no reason to suspect foul play.

No medical evidence was called.

After the evidence had been recorded the jury returned a verdict that the death was caused by a fall on the 1st floor of the Hotel Majestic from the fourth floor, from which he apparently threw himself whilst suffering from insomnia and nervousness.

RAIN FATALITIES.

At the Coroner's Court, on Sunday morning, Mr. A. R. King, the Coroner, held an inquest, touching the death of an unknown Hindu woman. It appeared from the evidence that on the 26th October at 7-30 a.m. one Mahadoo Vithoo, a porter on the G. I. P. Railway at Goorla station, was on duty at the level crossing of the station, when he saw the deceased lying on the line. She was between the up and down lines. She had sustained injuries and was unconscious. A Thana Local train had passed at about 6 a.m. on the up line. He did not see the deceased walking along the lines. There was blood on the rails. The medical evidence showed that the cause of the death was due to fracture of the skull.

The jury returned a verdict of accident.

At the Coroner's Court, the Coroner held an inquest, on Sunday morning, touching the death of one Sonibai who died on account of her having been knocked down and run over by a train of the G. I. P. Railway whilst she was walking on the line, near the Sion station. The jury returned a verdict of accident.

DEATH OF A CHILD FROM QUININE POISUNING.

On Saturday morning Mr. A. R. King, Coroner, held an inquest touching the death of Jesy Nazareth, an Indian Christian girl (3). The evidence showed that Jesy was adopted by a widow Cotilda De Souza Nazareth. Her son had kept some sugar coated quinine pills of five grains each in a packet in a cupboard. On Friday afternoon Jesy swallowed four pills which were lying on the ground. Her mother tried to make her vomit but did not succeed. She was removed to the J J Hospital in an unconscious state where she died.

The jury returned a verdict of death from quinine poisoning which she had ignorantly taken an overdose.

NON-CO-OPERATION IN CEYLON.

The leaders of Young Ceylon are contemplating resort to non-cooperation. The idea has spread to Egypt and the Phillippines, and the world has hardly begun to witness its trial as a modern political force. Ceylon has the advantage of intimate contact with India. The Ceylonese are of nimble intellect and certain elements of the population possess a tenacity and single-minded devotion which have made the Sikhs famous. The four millions who inhabit the island have been undergoing a process of fusion since 1915 when the Martial Law atrocities revealed to them the impotence of their position against the caprice of vested interests and lawless law. Ceylonese battalions fought gallantly in the War and the people have, like the Sikhs, the gift and training for automatic discipline. The Burghers have become naturalised to the soil and the snob element is virtually extinct among the Ceylonese. The promotion of discord among Tamils, Singalese and Burghers is to-day a difficult object while the landed magnates have been learning, after the scourge of Martial Law, the wisdom of alliance with the people. If to-day the people of Ceylon are tired of Council mummery and demand an administration manned by them and run in their interests, the responsibility for the spirit belongs, in no mean measure, to the local bureaucracy. The consciousness of self-respect was latent in the people, but the policy of irritation and self-regard pursued by the bureaucracy is responsible for the present climax; not a climax perhaps but a great beginning. The majority of the non-official members of the Ceylon Legislature have resigned in protest against the high-handed and rapacious manner in which the salaries scheme was carried through the Council. Nineteen voted for the scheme and eighteen against it, but the Government won by the unscrupulous use of official votes to secure increased salaries for the officials themselves. As usual, the Services, led by highly-paid officers of the Imperial Service status, raised the clamour that they were starving, and that if they did not get their war-allowances consolidated, together with fresh increments to boot, there would be a catastrophic decline in efficiency. The non-official members contended that fresh taxation would be inadvisable at a time of bad trade and economic distress, and that just as the merchant, the planter and the professional man were trying to tide over the crisis with lesser receipts, the Services too should take compassion on the masses whose salt they were eating and refrain from thumb-screwing taxation. More. They were pressed to carry on with their increased emoluments only till the outlook of trade and public revenue brightened a little. Normally the bureaucracy in Ceylon is overpaid in comparison with the Services of self-governing countries and but for the hard mercenary spirit which characterises foreign service, they could have graciously avoided instant pressure on the miserable tax-payer.

As we have often pointed out, the Civil Service in Britain is undergoing a process of salary-reduction while their foreign confreres are making merry with progress in the other direction. The effrontery and callousness of this exceptional course will be realised from the fact that the latest cut in the Civilian's salary in England took place on 30th September when £5 millions, in the national outlay, was economised. The average of the index figures for the previous six months shows the reduction to be 4/26ths, which means knocking off a total of £5 millions in addition to the £7 millions at the March revision. The process of automatic reduction is going on in England, though publicity of the fact in India incenses the "Pioneer" against us. Leaving their details aside as also the moral of the clamour in India, Ceylon and other bureaucratic farms, we return to the conflict of interests between Covenanted Services and the tax-payer as witnessed in Ceylon. The attitude of "Tax and be damned" is scarcely worthy of a civilised administration. Sir William Manning's fulminations centred on the single proposition that he considered the pay of Civil Servants a matter of paramount interest. The non-official members retorted that the claim of the tax-payer was no less paramount. If the Civil Servant was embarrassed, the average tax-payer had long ago been reduced below subsistence level. It is an economic fact which no official could dispute, but they claimed priority of rights and by the exertion of the official vote allowed themselves a victory at the cost of under-represented tax-payer. Besides the indecency of self-aggrandisement in the face of protest, there was a violation of the spirit of the Constitution. Rule No. I of the standing orders of the Ceylon Legislature lays it down that in all proceedings they should follow the model of the House of Commons in the matter of convention and etiquette. Selfish voting of emoluments by the Ministers of the Crown is forbidden in English practice. Erskine May in his "Parliamentary Practice" says:

> "In the Commons it is a rule that no member who has a direct pecuniary interest in a question shall be allowed to vote upon it but in order to operate as a disqualification this interest must be immediate and personal and not merely of a general or remote character." (M. L. A.'s please not).

It is obvious that what the Ceylon officials zealously voted for, was a question of direct and personal pecuniary interest to them, but the Governor acted as the whip of the official party in contravention of the first principles of legislative usage. "I over-rule the objection" is all he could say, like a cornered Company Chairman.

Thus the conduct of the bureaucratic phalanx, essentially indecent, was also opposed to the spirit of the Constitution. Thirteen non-officials—the majority—walked out in protest and now most of them have resigned. They have discovered that their pomp of place depended on their pliability and that in a real attempt to defend their constituents they had no more power than a debating club. The Governor virtually shook the mailed fist in a much-tattered glove. The Ceylonese are thinking of sending a deputation to England to represent matters to the Colonial Office. Sir William Manning too will shortly be on his way to argue the case for the whiteman's burden and its perquisites. The development follows a piquant parallel. In 1916, a Ceylon deputation went to create a commotion in England regarding the oppressive application of Martial Law. The Governor then implicated too was on the premises of the Colonial Office and the deputation returned to report failure and to witness in Ceylon a pro-official propaganda signed by no less a dignitary than the Bishop of Colombo who had until then enjoyed the credit of genuine Christian character. The disillusionment gave a shock to the public of Ceylon. It is therefore no wonder that there is a strong party in Ceylon who to-day distrust the single expedient of mendicancy. They call for non-cooperation, no mean weapon to use with a compact population governed by officials and planters. The chances are that the appeal to pacific methods within the island will bear fruit. There never was a case of violent political crime in Ceylon and it is interesting to see a diversion of nationalism along channels of peace and abiding efficacy. But what is the genesis of the movement? Nothing less than the self-will and defiance of the local bureaucracy which mistook its function of the servant for that of the master. History repeats itself with far greater efficacy and far less excuse.

MR. SASTRI'S DISCOVERIES.

Mr. Sastri is evidently never tired of indulging in high-sounding platitudes. Speaking at the Colonial Institute he said he was received everywhere, in the Dominions he visited, "with honours and hospitality due to the representative of a great Government belonging to the sisterhood of the Empire. He found everywhere a background of mutual understanding and goodwill." Of course, representing as he did "a great Government" and not a great people, he "had not expected a immediate fulfilment of the object of his mission, but he believed he had succeeded in laying the foundation of a good understanding between India and the Dominions." So all that Mr. Sastri has been able to achieve is "laying the foundation of good understanding between India and the Dominions." After all the boasted solidarity of the British Empire, nay the British Commonwealth of Nations, after all their common sacrifices during the war, it was left to Mr. Sastri now to lay the foundation of a good understanding between India and the Dominions! And that is not all. It is the proud privilege of Mr. Sastri to have made a great discovery. He found, he says, "that in the Dominions the so-called anti-Indian prejudice was not so much against race or colour as economic." Bravo, Mr. Sastri! How very fruitful has your great mission been and how your grateful countrymen will heave a sigh of relief to learn that after all the anti-Indian prejudice is only a myth of their imagination and does not exist in reality but is only "so-called", and that if there is any prejudice against Indians in the Dominions it is economic! As an "Imperial statesman", Mr. Sastri is, of course, too great a man to take into account unconsidered trifles such as the attempt to segregate Indians in "locations" in South and East Africa, not to speak of many other humiliating and degrading racial restrictions imposed on them in South Africa especially. Having thus simplified the problem of Indians abroad, Mr. Sastri, as in duty bound, felt the need of expressing some words of gratitude to his benefactors. So we are assured that "whatever Government was in power in England, India always looked to it for the entire fulfilment of pledges, and had rarely been disappointed. He would be an untruthful and unjust critic who said that India had not received from England just recognition of her separate existence and he emphatically asserted that all doubts and misgivings regarding the utility of the British connection must be ended at the earliest moment." Indeed, what ungrateful people the Indians are! The problem of Indians abroad does not exist, England has justly recognised India's separate existence and yet the Indians complain! What if the Punjab wrong has not been righted, what if the Government of England broke a solemn pledge regarding the integrity of Turkey, what if repression has taken the toll of hundreds of India's noblest and patriotic sons, what if the most beloved leader of India is imprisoned, what if a Premier of England has declared that the "Steel Frame" of the I. C. S. will always remain the dominant power in India, what if the "Reforms" have proved a delusion even to the Cooperators! Is not India a member of the "League of Nations" and is not Right Hon. Srinivas Sastri an "Imperial asset"? Now that these words of wisdom have fallen from the lips of this distinguished and patriotic son of India, his misguided countrymen must recognise the folly of their pursuit of phantoms like "self-determination" or "Swaraj" and cooperate with the Steel Frame "in strengthening the hold of the Empire" on their country.

Notes of the Day

Mahatma in Jail.

In reply to Mr. Jehangir Petit's question at the last session of the Council whether Mahatma Gandhi was not "allowed newspapers of any kind, and not even purely literary books and periodicals", Mr. Hayward said that "books and periodicals" were allowed. This characteristically vague reply left it to the public to infer whether or not newspapers of any kind are allowed to the Mahatma. Mr. R. G. Tripathi forwards us copy of a letter he has received from the Superintendent, Yeravda Central Prison, in reply to his enquiry if the copies of his periodical, the "Samalochak", that he has been sending to Mahatmaji were being supplied to him. The reply runs as follows:—

No. 11295 of 1922.

From
Major S. Whitworth Jones, I.M.S.
Superintendent, Yeravda Central Prison,

To,
Ramaniyaram Goverdhanram Tripathi Esquire
Manager and Proprietor,
The Illustrated Samalochak Office
Bombay No. 4
Central Prison Office
Yeravda 26th October, 1922.

Dear Sir,

In reply to your post card dated 25th October, 1922, I have to inform you that prison rules do not permit of periodicals being read by prisoners, but books are allowed subject to their being considered suitable by me.

I am returning to you a copy of the Samalochak received to-day.

Yours, truly.
Sd. S. W. JONES,
Major, I. M. S.,
Superintendent, Yeravda Central Prison.

The reply of the Superintendent makes it quite clear that the Mahatma is not permitted to read even periodicals, let alone newspapers, and it is strangely in conflict with the statement made by the Home Member in the Council. Will the Director of Information shed some light on this mystery?

Negative and Gelatinous.

"No more daring experiments, risky adventures, sudden about-turns, bellicose utterances or threatening gestures but methods of dignity, reflection and prudence." Such is the comment of a Paris journal on Mr. Bonar Law's manifesto to his constituents defining the policy of his Government and Party. We agree with the French journal's description of what this policy is not to be, in contrast with the disastrous brilliance of Mr. Lloyd George, but though the methods which Mr. Bonar Law foreshadows may be inspired by prudence of a narrow kind and may be dignified in a sense, they will hardly be the result of reflection. For, all that Mr. Bonar Law promises is, as he himself admits, a negative policy, except as regards the Near East, where the aggressively dangerous policy of Mr. Lloyd George is to give place to one of agreement with the Allies. For the rest, methods of prudence will mean the consolidation of the power of the Capitalist class and the vested interests both in England and India. And Mr. Asquith has pithily summed up this policy by saying that where it is not negative, it is gelatinous. The reason is not far to seek. The coming great struggle in British politics will be between Labour and Capital—and the object of Mr. Bonar Law's policy evidently is to appeal to the conservative instincts of the British electors and investors under the camouflage of reviving trade and reduced taxation and thus prejudice them against the far-reaching constructive proposals of Labour. Labour has made no secret as to what it wants in the interests of the country as well as itself. As Mr. Asquith has admitted, the Labour manifesto is frank and open. "It speaks in some matters," he adds, "with almost the same voice as the Independent Liberals, but the ultimate purpose of the Labour Party is State control." Whether State control of the principal national industries is wise or not—and the Sankey Commission recommended nationalisation of mines—the Independent Liberals will not be wise in their day, if, because of difference of views on this issue, they refrain from making common cause with Labour against the Conservatives, at the polls.

The Two Sides of Downing Street.

Mr. Bonar Law in his manifesto says that the pre-war machinery of the Central Government must be restored, the Cabinet Secretariat in the present form ended, and the Foreign Office must resume the control of the machinery of international conferences. It is now well-known that it was the Cabinet Secretariat of Mr. Lloyd George, through which he autocratically controlled every department of Government, which was responsible for issuing the warlike statements in the recent Near East crisis. With the loss of Mr. Lloyd George's prestige, as a result of the disastrous bungling during the crisis, the abolition of the Cabinet Secretariat became inevitable. The changes foreshadowed by Mr. Bonar Law were already anticipated in mail week. As an English contemporary wrote in that week:

> One happy result, at any rate, has come out of the present trouble. What Mr. Asquith happily referred to as "the two sides of Downing Street" have been separated, and the Foreign Office has again come into its own. Lord Curzon has taken charge of our relations with Paris, Athens, and Angora. The "garden suburb" has been ignored. This is a great change, for since the armistice in November, 1918, the centre of gravity in foreign affairs had shifted from he Foreign Office to No. 10, Downing Street, where Mr. Lloyd George sat as a sort of earthly providence, drawing advice and inspiration from his costly secretariat. From No. 10 came instructions for the publication on September 16 of that strident S.O.S. to the Dominions which bears visible traces of Mr. Churchill's Roman hand. An ex-colleague of the Prime Minister, discussing the collapse of his policy in the Near East, asked unkindly: "But what could you expect when our foreign affairs were in the hands of an unskilled labourer?"

The Unseen Hand.

"Truth" writes:—

> "For years past some dark and malignant influence behind the Prime Minister of the day has been using its power to involve us in mad military adventures. The late Lord Fisher called him, her, or it, a miasma. The Dardanelles Commissioners called it "some ministers." The Mespot Commissioners called it the "scope of an objective," whatever that may mean. The 'Morning Post' and other authorities tell us now that it was the Colonial Secretary and the Lord Chancellor who were behind the Prime Minister in nearly stampeding the country into war. The only point that seems clear from subsequent events is that the influence was political, and not military."

The "Morning Post" is, of course, partially right in suggesting that Mr. Churchill and "Galloper Smith" were behind the Premier in nearly stampeding England into war. But it overlooks the more dominant influence of Sir Basil Zaharoff.

Women Workers in Bombay Mills.

The "Labour Gazette" recently published the report of the Lady Doctor appointed in connexion with maternity benefits to women workers. The report does not confine itself to the question of maternity benefits but gives many distressing details of the conditions under which women of the proletariat class live and work in this city. There are a few chawls built by mill-owners which perhaps, to some extent, meet the sanitary and hygienic requirements of their occupants, but elsewhere the conditions are simply horrible. The Lady Doctor records some typical instances. "In one room measuring some 15ft. by 12ft. I found six families living. On enquiry I ascertained that the actual number of adults and children living in this room was 30. Three out of six of the women who lived in this room were shortly expecting to be delivered. . . When I questioned the district nurse who accompanied me as to how she would arrange for privacy in this room, I was shown a small space some 3ft. by 4ft. which was usually screened off for the purpose. . . . . This was one of many such rooms I saw. In the rooms in the basement of a house conditions were far worse. Here, daylight with difficulty penetrated, sunlight never." The woman worker is not only a wage-earner but also the domestic drudge. If she has a suckling infant she trudges home at recess time to give it a feed. One can hardly wonder that under such circumstances about 98 per cent of the infants born to women industrial workers have opium administered to them. Only three mills in Bombay provide creches but even these are not under fully qualified nurses. "In the creches visited," the Lady Doctor writes in her report, "I found instances of green diarrhoea. None of these cases were isolated, because the woman in charge had no knowledge of the very infectious nature of the disease. . . These creches are not as well patronised as they should be, and if to the natural disinclination of mothers to leave their infants at the creche, and their ignorance of the benefits to be derived in the creche, is added a risk of healthy children getting deceased, the objects to be attained by the introduction of a creche to each mill would be entirely negatived." As for attendance at labour about 75 per cent have some elderly relative and the rest untrained dais. Fortunately 85 per cent of the deliveries are normal. "It is the after-care of the mother and infant which tells most under the present conditions," death-rate among infants being above 50 per cent. The report suggests the building of a hospital exclusively for the use of industrial workers with a maternity wing attached to it.

ISMET SUCCEEDS YUSUF KEMAL.

LONDON, Oct. 27.

Constantinople.—The Angora Assembly has elected General Ismet Pasha, the Foreign Commissary, in succession to Yussuf Kemal who resigned owing to ill-health. General Ismet Pasha, will accordingly, preside over the Kemalist delegation at the Lausanne conference.

THE RUSSIAN PROGRAMME.

LENIN INTERVIEWED.

LONDON, Oct. 29.

The first interview with Lenin, since his illness, is published in the "Observer" to-day from its Moscow correspondent, who says that Lenin appeared to be full of life and health. Lenin declared that the Soviet aimed at friendship with both England and France. If Russia and the federated States were not allowed to participate in the Near East Conference, it would spoil the possibility of the peaceful development of Europe. The limitation of the Russian participation to the question of the Straits would inevitably lead to economic friction, which might hit France and England in the very near future. The Russian programme, explained Lenin, included the satisfaction of the national aspirations of Turkey; closing the Straits to all armed ships in peace as well as in war; full freedom for commercial shipping; and the Soviet opposed the League of Nations controlling the Straits.

WILL CONFERENCE BE POSTPONED?

TURKISH NATIONALIST VIEW.

LONDON, Oct. 27.

Constantinople.—According to statements in the Nationalist circle the Near East conference will probably be delayed until November 25th, in order to allow the complete occupation of Thrace. It is officially stated that reports of murder and robbery of the Greeks by the Turks and the Turks by the Greeks in Thrace have diminished, chiefly owing to the departure of the Greeks. The trouble is principally due to the fact that both the Greeks and the Turks are terrified of each other and despite the efforts at disarmament, there are still plenty of arms in the country. Consequently when the Greeks and the Turks meet both sides are eager to get the first shot in. The presence of British troops, however, has had a quietening effect and the detachments sent to the villages have been well recieved.

M. BOUILLON NOT ATTENDING.

LONDON, Oct. 27.

Paris.—M. Franklin Bouillon in a letter to M. Poincare, declines to represent France at the Lausanne Conference on the ground that it is necessary for everyone to have implicit faith in the impartiality of the negotiators and the attacks in the British Press on him have shown that the British public refuse to understand his role or his ideas. M. Poincare has replied, thanking him for the "work of peace" he recently accomplished in the Near East.

VENIZELOS TO REPRESENT GREECE.

LONDON, Oct. 28.

Athens.—M. Venizelos, assisted by M. Romanos and M. Aclamanos, the Greek Ministers at Paris and London respectively, will represent Greece at the Lausanne Conference. General Mazarakis will attend as a military expert.

The Ex-Greek Brigand with his wife.

GENERAL ELECTION.

ASQUITH WANTS PEACE

PROSPECTS OF ANGLO-FRENCH ENTENTE.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAMS.)

LONDON, Oct. 27.

Paris.—The Press welcomes, Mr. Bonar Law's manifesto. The "Gaulois" says:—"No more daring experiments, risky adventures, sudden aboutturns, bellicose utterances or threatening gestures but methods of dignity, reflection and prudence." The "Homme Libre" wishes the happy accession a long term of office. The "Petit Parisien" says: "If Mr. Bonar Law, as we think he will, follows up his words, it will not take long to dissipate the principal causes of misunderstanding which have threatened to arise between the two nations.

A WORKING AGREEMENT?

NATIONAL LIBERALS' DISRUPTION.

LONDON, Oct. 27.

Concluding his speech last night, Mr. Bonar Law said that the Unionists would fight as a united party but he did not object to the Unionists and National Liberals co-operating in individual areas, if there were agreement giving them fair representation. This was in response to Mr. Lloyd George's appeal not to spread the war and is interpreted by the papers as an overture for a working agreement. Mr. Lloyd George is expected to reply to it to-morrow. The ex-Premier's failure up to now to give a clear lead to his followers has resulted in the evidence of disruption within their ranks. Some National Liberals are pledging support to the local Conservatives and others seeking reunion with the Independent Liberals.

CHAMBERLAIN PLEADS FOR COALITION.

LONDON, Oct. 28.

Mr. Chamberlain, opening the campaign in the constituency of West Birmingham yesterday, said that he meant to continue to plead for the maintenance of the friendships made in the face of national perils. He found no fault with Mr. Bonar Law's manifesto, but he felt that there had been a great commotion to produce so small a change.

Mr. Chamberlain, in his election address, says that he stands as a Unionist, but promises to support Mr. Bonar Law. He is of opinion that cooperation will again be necessary for strong and stable government.

CONSERVATIVES NOT OPPOSING ASQUITH.

LONDON, Oct. 27.

It is officially stated that the Conservatives will not oppose Mr. Asquith at Paisley. His only opponent will be the Labour Candidate.

ASQUITH WANTS PEACE AND RETRENCHMENT.

LONDON, Oct. 27.

Mr. Asquith was given a most enthusiastic reception at a crowded Liberal meeting at Peterborough. He said that the Labour manifesto was frank and open and spoke in some matters with almost the same voice as the Independent Liberals. But the ultimate purpose of the Labour party was State Control. Mr. Bonar Law's policy, where it was not negative, was gelatinous. The action of the Coalition itself had shown that the Independent Liberals had been right. The great need of the country was peace and retrenchment.

CHURCHILL SCOUTS IDEA OF CENTRE PARTY.

LONDON, Oct. 27.

Mr. Churchill, who is still confined to his room, has addressed a message to the electors of Dundee, wherein he criticises the new Government on the score of its being weak and containing an excessive number of ministers in the Upper House who would control the policy. Secondly its majority in the Commons would be secured by split votes and consequently he declares the attitude towards the new Government must be one of freedom and reserve but not of factious opposition. He disapproves of the suggestion of the creation of a Centre Party and stands as a Liberal Free Trader. He concludes by taking up his stand alongside Mr. Lloyd George. He scathingly refers to the latter's quondam friends who are now the opponents.

MONTAGU'S CREED.

UNQUALIFIED LIBERALISM.

LONDON, Oct. 29.

Mr. Montagu, addressing his constituents at Cambridge yesterday, said that he would stand as a Liberal without qualification at the election. The statement in the Press that he was about to adopt Conservatism was baseless. He would generally support the Government if it pursued the policy outlined in Mr. Bonar Law's speech at Glasgow.

SHIP OF STATE.

LLOYD GEORGE'S S. O. S.

ONLY COALITION WILL SAVE.

LONDON, Oct. 28.

Mr. Lloyd George, opening his Scottish campaign at Glasgow, said that the nation was still bewildered and still waiting some reputable explanation of the wanton act of sabotage which had destroyed the Coalition. His present, and he hoped his future, friend Mr. Bonar Law had failed to show there had been any difference in the late Government on questions of principle and policy. The die-hards were not the only people demanding a change. If a partisan victory was snatched at this election that would not be the end of the Labour manifesto, which made an appeal to the millions and was a formidable challenge of an alternative Socialist Government. Himself and his friends would do their utmost to avert the worst evils of the bad blunder. He trusted that nothing would be done at the election that would make it difficult or impossible for men of a like mind, who believed in keeping the country steady, from pulling together and preventing the boat capsizing. "Stick to a middle course", said the ex-Premier, "and give a wide berth to the abyss on both sides and we shall pull through." An important thing was that the breach should not be made irreparable, otherwise the dangerous elements would be found marching to destruction.

"We emerged from the great storm", concluded Mr. Lloyd George, "because we cooperated. I was then on the bridge (cheers). I am now in the fo'castle (laughter), but a hurricane is coming from another quarter. Let us not endanger the glorious old ship by quarrels as to what officers shall be on the bridge on what uniform they wear."

GEORGE-ISM AND UNIONISM.

YOUNGER DENIES EXISTENCE OF PACT.

With the object of removing apprehension, Sir George Younger, the Chairman of the Unionist Party Organisation, has categorically denied the existence of anything in the nature of a pact between the National Liberals and the Unionist Central Office with regard to seats at the election. He explains that if the local Unionist executives select candidates, the central office will support them. Similarly, local executives are entitled to agree not to oppose the other side just as before the existence of the Coalition.

GARVIN'S NEW ROLE.

PLAYING TO LAW'S TUNE.

LONDON, Oct. 29.

Mr. Gravin, writing in the "Observer" to-day, says that if Europe is full of difficulties and obstructions, vast undeveloped fields of the British Empire remain. Lord Milner wanted to organise the enterprise in that direction immediately after the War and it would have been worth doing. They should be reaping a rich commercial reward by now but Lord Milner retired and nothing was done. The efforts towards constructive organisation in peace time are pigmy in comparison with the efforts towards the destructive organisation in war-time.

It is left for Mr, Bonar Law, avers Mr. Garvin, to summon a conference for imperial development. Politically, the British Commonwealth, by ranging through every quarter of the Globe, impinges directly upon every other human interests. Their case is such that the Irish troubles proved a stimulus to the American tariffs and shipping while Eastern turmoil and all other Eastern disorders meant loss and prejudice to the interests of Lancashire,

A KEEN CONTEST PREDICTED.

LL. G. AND CHURCHILL NOT TO BE OPPOSED.

SIMLA, Oct. 29.

Arrangements to avoid contests in the coming election between Mr. Bonar Law's Conservatives and Lloyd George's National Liberals have been made in many constituencies throughout the country. Conservatives have decided not to oppose Mr. Lloyd George and Mr. Churchill. Nor will any opposition be offered by them to Mr. Asquith, Independent Liberal leader and ex-Premier, though latter will be opposed by a Labour candidate. All parties are showing great activity and the election is expected to be keenly contested.

CONSERVATIVES OPPOSE MONTAGU.

LONDON, Oct. 29.

Notwithstanding Mr. Montagu's declaration of views at Cambridge, the Conservatives have decided to adopt the country man, Mr. Harold Gray, as a Unionist candidate.

STRENGTH OF PARTY CANDIDATES.

LONDON, Oct. 28.

The Conservatives, in 31 constituencies up to now, have agreed not to oppose the National Liberals. Hitherto 435 Conservative candidates have been adopted, 399 Labour, 156 National Liberal and 301 Independent Liberal.

MARTIAL LAW RESCINDED.

FASCISTI DEMONSTRATION

ITALIAN CABINET ON TENTER-HOOKS.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAMS.)

LONDON, Oct. 28.

Rome.—A semi-official statement says that in consequence of the improvement in the situation Government has rescinded martial law. One explanation of the rescission of martial law is given by a newspaper which states that the King refused to sign the decree. The Cabinet is still sitting. All was quiet here at dusk, but the authorities as a precaution have stopped the trams, though other traffic is running. A number of the Fascisti demonstrated before the Quirinal and acclaimed his Majesty. All is reported quiet in the provinces, except in a few cases where the Fascisti are occupying the public offices. Bloodshed is reported from Cremona.

"MAINTAINING PUBLIC ORDER."

The Cabinet has been in permanent session since last night. It has issued a statement signed by all the ministers, declaring its intention to maintain steadfastly public order and uphold free institutions in the face of insurrectionary movements.

SELF-DETERMINATION.

FACISTI'S AGGRESSION.

LONDON, Oct. 27.

Rome.—It is stated in political circles that the situation is as follows. The Cabinet last night considered the Government's position, with special reference to the Fascist congress at Naples. All the ministers recognised the necessity for immediately placing their resignations in the hands of the Premier in order to allow him liberty of action. Sig. Facta thereupon telegraphed to the Fascist leader, Mussolini, who is in Milan, asking him to come to Rome to discuss the possibility of an agreement between the Government and the Fascisti.

MARTIAL LAW PROCLAIMED.

LONDON, Oct. 28.

Rome.—Martial law has been proclaimed throughout Italy from mid-day.

TAKING THE LAW INTO THEIR OWN HANDS,

LONDON, Oct. 28.

Paris.—A Rome despatch reports that the situation has suddenly become worse in Tuscany due to the Fascistis' beginning concerted action. The Fascistis, despite the resistance of the Carabinieri, have occupied the Post Office in Florence and taken possession of the barracks at Siens. Important concentrations of the Fascistis, who have announced their intention of marching on Rome, are reported at Pisa, Pistojam, Leghorn and elsewhere. Communications are interrupted.

TOWARDS CIVIL WAR.

LONDON, Oct. 29.

Rome.—The day passed off very quietly. The military authorities took precautionary measures. The approaches to bridges were protected and guarded. It is stated that the troops were ordered to prevent the entry, into Rome, of the Fascisti elements, which were concentrating in various places parties of the Fascisti marching on Rom from Pisa, Florence, Leghorn and elsewher and being arrested.

The military authorities ordered complete stoppage of railway traffic, and depots wer strongly guarded. The Carabinieri and cavalry are patrolling streets.

It is reported from Cremona that a party of the Fascisti attempted to seize the prefecture and were driven out by the police, four Fascisti being killed.

AVIATION.

INTERNATIONAL COMMISSION'S RECOMMENDATION.

LONDON, Oct. 27.

The International Air Commission, which is now sitting in London, has passed a resolution in favour of restricting the age of pilots from 19 to 45. Other resolutions insist on the wireless equipment being fitted on all air-craft engaged in public transport and forbidding the flight of air-craft belonging to non-contracting states over the territory of contracting states unless a special convention is signed which dose not violate the rights of other contractants.

LITIGATION LEADS TO CLOSING OF CONSULATE.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAMS.)

LONDON, Oct. 28.

Washington.—The Mexican Consulate in New York has been closed and furnishings attached in a civil suit brought into the courts against Mexico for one and a quarter million dollars damages. Mexico has protested to the State Department against the attachment in the same suit of the deposits and funds in the New York banks. The Mexican Charge d'Affaires says that the court's action will be stubbornly contested. A message from Mexico City says that the Foreign Office has ordered the closing of the Consulate in New York and orders affecting other Consulates in the United States are being considered.

INSOLVENCY OF MC GRIGOR'S BANK.

PLIGHT OF ARMY OFFICERS.

LONDON, Oct. 27.

The War Office announcement in connexion with the suspension of business by McGrigor's Bank states that until the forecast of a probable amount of dividend, namely from four to six shillings, was published by the Official Receiver, the War Office had no knowledge of the extent to which the bankruptcy might result in loss to individual officers or their families. The War Office, relying on the status of the firm as an army agents, had left the pay of half-pay, retired pay or pension in their hands. Detailed information is not yet available, but the whole position is receiving sympathetic consideration of the Chancellor of the Exchequer and the Secretary for War. Meanwhile, to meet the immediate necessities, arrangements are being made whereby the officers on half or retired pay and pensioners for whom the firm has acted as bankers may obtain immediate advance for November due on first December. For the full-pay officers, corresponding action by the new agents has been already provided.

RELIEVING DISTRESS.

It is likely that the dividend of McGrigor's Bank is based on the estimates of the

MR. ATHAVLE AGAIN.

BAR'S BOYCOTT OF HIS COURT

AS PROTEST AGAINST RUDE TREATMENT.

On Saturday afternoon an urgent meeting of the Police Court Bar Association was held at the Esplanade Police Court Bar Library to protest against the rude and curt treatment meted out by Mr. B. N. Athavle, Acting Third Presidency Magistrate, to Mr. Chimanlal D. Shah, a pleader, on Thursday last, Mr. N. N. Saher, Bar.-at-Law, presiding. Although the meeting was called at 2 p.m., the library-room was packed with pleaders practising in all courts of the city to its utmost capacity long before the time. There were pleaders from Girgaon, Mazagon and even remote Dadar, who had especially come to join in the emphatic protest against Mr. Athavle's treatment of the Bar in general and of the professional gentlemen in particular. Among those present were Messrs. Saher, C. N. Kanuga, B. T. Desai, B. J. Dhondy, K. F. Nariman, Himatlal Parekh, S. B. Banaji, Pandit, Daruwalla, D. N. Deshpande, Rutnagar, Navalkar, Pathan and more than 40 others, including pleaders and barristers. The discussion lasted over an hour and a half in which all the pleaders, junior and senior, as well as the barristers practising in the Police Courts took a lively interest. Exemplary harmony prevailed throughout in regard to the line of action to be adopted to vindicate the self-respect of the Bar, and the self-sacrifice, which was inevitable for some of the senior members in case it was decided by the meeting not to appear in Mr. Athavle's court, was no consideration at all. One senior pleader practising for the last 20 years in the Police Courts said that Mr. Athavle was his personal friend, but when the question of the self-respect and the integrity of the Bar was concerned he was prepared to discard the consideration of friendship. A strong and representative Committee was appointed in the end to take the necessary steps including legal proceedings if advised in connection with the said unpleasant incident and, it was decided to send a copy of the resolutions to the Chief Justice of the High Court, the Chief Presidency Magistrate and the Secretary to the Government, and other responsible officers.

MR. SAHER'S ADDRESS.

Mr. Mohanlal M. Desai, one of the Secretaries of the Bar Association, at the outset read the written statement of Mr. Chimanlal D. Shah supported by the statement of Mr. Gadkeri, pleader, as an eye-witness. This was in substance the same as reported in our Saturday's issue. Mr. N. N. Saher, Bar.-at-Law, the Chairman, then said that on Friday afternoon a deputation of four members of the Bar went to Mr. Athavle in the open court and drew his attention in regard to the subject-matter of the complaint. To their surprise Mr. Athavle justified his action and said that the pleader in question was staring at him for some time and that his judicial clerk and interpreter would bear him out in this. To him (speaker), however, Mr. Shah was the least offensive person and he did not believe in the interpreter. He thought the meeting was properly called to vindicate the self-respect of the Bar. He felt that before sending a protest an opportunity to explain himself should have been given to Mr. Athavle.

Mr. Balubhai Desai: We have already given him an opportunity and he took the statement of the pleader as a lie.

The Chairman then called upon the members to address the meeting if they desired. Mr. Bapuji Dhondi said he was sorry for the insult to a member of the Bar. Mr. Athavle was a member of the Bar once and he should not forget that he too was a pleader practising in the Police Courts though at present he occupied a position as a magistrate. It was a matter of regret and surprise that Mr. Athavle was forgetting himself at times. He had been a magistrate only five or six years, during which time he had failed to inspire confidence among the public and the Bar. Mr. Athavle thought that because he was a magistrate, the public and the Bar did not deserve any consideration, and that he could arrest and lock up anybody he liked. The speaker wanted to know, however, under what authority Mr. Athavle could do so. The speaker was reminded of a similar incident in the time of Mr. Aston, the late Chief Presidency Magistrate. Mr. Aston fined a man for coughing and the latter appealed to the High Court. Mr. Justice Chandavarker, who heard the appeal, asked the Advocate-General who represented the Crown if he would have been justified in arresting a man in the Court as there was so much noise there. Mr. Chandavarkar as a judge of H. M.'s High Court appreciated what noise prevailed in the High Court and remitted the fine. The pleaders had many duties to perform in the Court. They had to receive instructions from their clients, cross-examine the witnesses, at times help a junior brother in matters of law and all this involved talking. This was not done with a view to disturb the Court. In fact that was not

GURU-KA-BAGH.

MILITARY PLEADERS CONVICTED.

(FROM A CORRESPONDENT.)

AMRITSAR, Oct. 28.

In the Court of Lala Amarnath, Magistrate, Amritsar, the Military Pensioners Jatha, numbering 107, put in a written statement through their Jathedar, Subedar Amar Singh, narrating their military services they said:—

DISTINGUISHED RECORD OF WAR SERVICES.

"The members of this Jatha are glad that they rendered services to the Crown, of which no loyal heart need feel ashamed. We fought on the battlefields of Tirah Chitral, Afghanistan, Burma, China, East Africa, the Soudan, Egypt, Persia, Mesopotamia, Palestine, Gallipolli, Russia, Iran and other fields less worthy of note. This service was done in the extremes of climate. While in France, thousands of Sikh soldiers stood entrenched for days together in icy waters. They also saw service at Rumadee in Mesopotamia, where the thermometer stood at 135 and there were no less than 80 men ill from thirst in one single day. The world seriously doubts if the onrushing tide of the victorious German hordes would have been stemmed but for the hand to hand bayonet fight by the Sikhs at Neauve Chapelle and Ypres. At Kutel Amara we held out when all the chances of help became entirely remote. Then all communications were cut off, and we had no provisions, save the flesh of horses and mules to feed on. Twentyfour of us were wounded in action and having been incapacitated for further military service, retired on pension, while one lost his leg and two got their eyesight injurned by gas. Almost all of us possess medals and one distinction or another in addition to two I.O.M.'s, one I.D.S.M., and one M.S.M. Most of us belong to the families, which have seen continous military service, since the unhappy times of the Indian Mutiny. We did nothing more than our duty to the Crown demanded and that we did to the utmost of our ability and strength."

TALE OF PERSECUTION.

After referring to the official attitude in connection with the Nankana massacre and the subsequent trial, the action taken in the matter of the Kirpans, black turbans and the Golden Temple keys; and the recent happenings and excesses in connection with the Guru-ka-bagh, the statement concludes: "Our patience having thus been tried to the utmost we have come forward to prove our devotion to the Guru and the Panth. As, if to give us a true idea of the humiliation to which our brothers are subjected, the police were good enough to give us a taste of it. We were first searched naked, like the meanest criminals, then kept under such severe and close guard as not to allow us to answer the calls of nature or pass water from 11 p.m. to 6 a.m. the next day. We shall now be pleased to see handcuffs fastened on our wrists by those whom we have been considering our friends for so long and in whose service we have been so little calculating of our own interests."

AMRITSAR, Oct. 27.

The members of the Jatha were convicted by the Magistrate. Sixty four were sentenced to two years' rigorous imprisonment and fine, to-day. Proceedings were withdrawn yesterday against one of the accused who had lost his leg in active service and had a wooden limb instead had walked along as a member of the jatha. The remaining 26, owing to their advanced age, were sentenced to six months' simple imprisonment each together with a fine of 100 rupees or in default three months' imprisonment. All the men were convicted under section 145 I. P. C., for being members of an unlawful Assembly.

AMRITSAR, Oct. 27.

Arrests yesterday at Gurukabagh amounted to one hundred and sixteen Akalis. Bhai Ranjitsingh Tajwar, Secretary, Shiromani Akali Dal, has been arrested here on account of a speech made on 3rd October in connection with the Gurukabagh affair. The S. G. P. C. in a communique regrets to note that in certain newspapers a few letters have appeared from some Hindu gentlemen expressing the groundless fear that reforming Sikhs want to take possession of the Hindu temples. The Committee wants to remove this apprehension by declaring that it has never been its intention to interfere with any Hindu places of worship. It concerns itself only with Sikh Gurdwaras. As the Committee has so often declared, it respects the sanctity and freedom of Hindu places of worship as of those which belong to the Sikhs. In another communique they state that the new Gurdwara Bill is doomed to failure as almost all Sikh leaders are in jail and the S. G. P. C. which is the most vitally concerned body in this matter has not been consulted. They appeal to every Sikh member of the Council to oppose the passage of the Bill.

Subedar Surain Singh has been arrested at village Chhiddan near Amritsar in connection with Gurukabagh affair. He is said to have recruited seventy Akalis. Another pensioners' jatha is being formed to go to Gurukabagh probably on 31st instant. A meeting has been convened for this evening near the Golden Temple to form an Amritsar City Jatha. No jatha from Amritsar City has so far gone.

MORE AKALI LEADERS SENTENCED.

AN ABORTIVE CONFERENCE.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

AMRITSAR, Oct. 28.

Mr. Amarnath, Magistrate sentenced Sardar Mokand Singh, Secretary, District Gurdwara Committee, Amritsar, on three counts under Section 117, I. P. C., to three years' rigorous and Rs. 100 fine or in default six months further rigorous, on each count sentences of imprisonment being concurrent. Another accused Sardar Bhag Singh, General Secretary of Shiromani Phabandhak Committee had been discharged at the previous hearing.

Sardar Sadhoosingh, Honorary Magistrate, sentenced another jatha of 121 Akalis as follows to varying terms of imprisonment from six to three months

Bhai Ranjitsingh Tajwar, Secretary Shiromani Akali Dal was arrested on October 16 under Sections 107 and 108, I. P. C., in connection with a speech made by him. He is the second secretary of the Akali Dal to be arrested in connection with Gurukabagh. The latest important arrest announced is that of master Harnamsingh of Sargodha made by Amritsar police.

AN ABORTIVE CONFERENCE.

A Sikh paper slightly lifts the veil over the results of a conference held last week at Lahore between Government officials and Sikh members of the Punjab Legislative Council to discuss the provisions of the latest Gurdwara Bill, for the introduction of which sanction of the Government of India has already been obtained and to consider ways and means to end the present struggle. What transpired at the conference the paper does not profess to know, but this much is certain, says the paper, that the conference did not arrive at any decision or conclusion. The Government members declined to accept the demands of the Sikh councillors and the Sik members considered any settlement impossible without the demands made by the Shiromani Gurdwara Prabandhak Committee being conceded. The most important condition for any understanding whatsoever was the release of all Sikh prisoners by Government. It is said that this elementary demand even received a cold reception from the representatives of Government and the conference broke up without achieving any result. The paper concludes that thereby the last glimmer of a hope of the Gurdwara Bill coming up before the coming session of the council has disappeared.

MR. ATHAVLE AGAIN.

the object with which a pleader went to the Court. The speaker admitted that at times there was some noise, but it was much more due to the people than the pleaders. Even in big trials in the High Court there was noise, but he had never heard in all his twenty years' experience as a pleader that any court ordered the arrest of a person because he talked with another. In the High Court, solicitors were instructing counsel fairly audibly. He submitted that it was not an insult to Mr. Shah but to the whole Bar, and it was up to the Bar to protest emphatically and vindicate the self-respect of the profession. Mr. Athavle's attitude was defiant and he added insult to injury, when he told them that Mr. Shah was telling something far from the truth. They should remember that Mr. Shah was supported by Mr. Gadkari. The speaker expressed surprise at the conduct of the interpreter, Mr. Mahajane, when he told Mr. Shah insolently chale jao.

Mr. Athavle was his friend and it grieved him to speak there against him, but friendship was no consideration when the dignity and self-respect of the Bar were involved. Mr. Athavle was once a member of the Bar and he would be soon again and therefore it was much more fitting that he treated the Bar with greater consideration.

DEFERENCE TO EUROPEANS.

Mr. K. F. Nariman then moved the following resolution:—

"That this meeting of the members of the Police Court Bar enters its most emphatic protest against the rude and curt treatment meted out by Mr. B. N. Athavle, Acting Third Presidency Magistrate, to a junior professional member of the Bar and further resolves that as a mark of protest no legal gentleman belonging to the Police Court Bar should appear in his Court till sufficient amends are made by Mr. Athavle both to the professional gentleman concerned and to the Bar in general and an assurance is given by him for better and equal treatment to all the members of the profession in future."

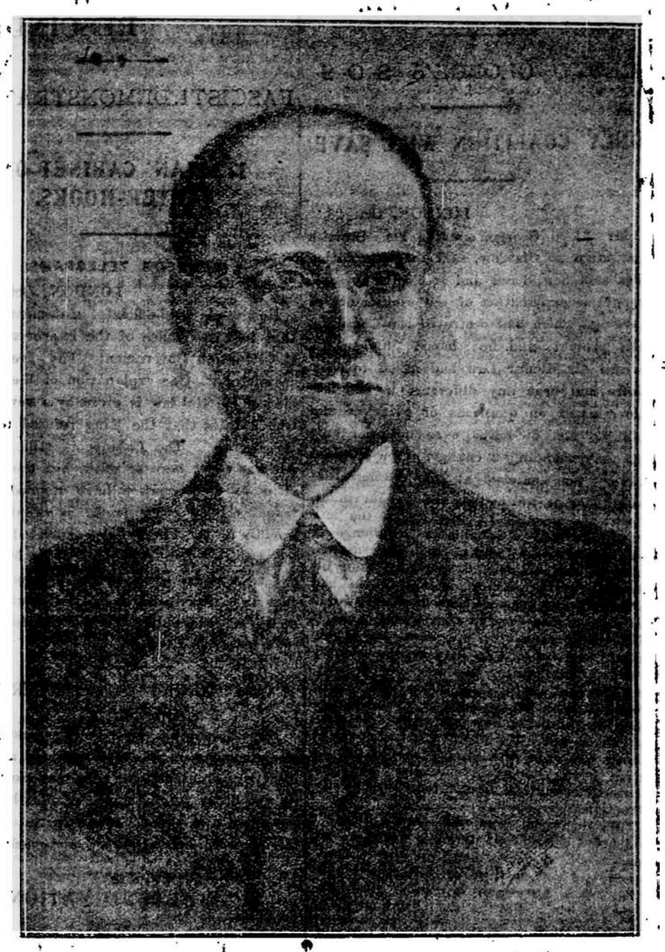
Mr. Nariman said they knew the attitude of the magistrate whom they were discussing; also his differential treatment of senior and junior pleaders and especially so where a European and an Indian were concerned. Two instances had occurred in Mr. Athavle's Court recently. In Major Porter's case at a certain stage Mr. Binning protested against the attitude of the magistrate and the latter had been cowed down. And what was more amazing than this, was Mr. Athavle's apologetic attitude to Mr. Binning. As Mr. Binning was leaving the Court, Mr. Athavle said. "I hope, Mr. Binning, we part as friends and you bear no venom or enmity towards me." Contrast this, said, Mr. Nariman, with the treatment meted out to Mr. Shah. The other instance was in regard to two or three European ladies and gentlemen in the same Major Porter's case. They were sitting opposite the magistrate and laughing and talking sufficiently loudly.

Mr. Dhondi:—I can bear testimony to this.

Mr. Nariman continuing said he was disturbed many times in cross-examining a witness by this noise, but the Magistrate took no notice of this, while in the case of Indians he said because he was an Indian Magistrate people were noisy in his Court and they would not be so if he was European.

Mr. Nariman, continuing, said that they had done all that could be done. Mr. Shah was not likely to talk loudly and to say of him that he was telling something far from the truth was adding insult to injury.

B. G. HORNIMAN.



A Painting in colour presented to "The Bombay Chronicle" by Mr. Sharma, the artist, who is a great admirer of Mr. Horniman.

So far as the Bar was concerned they should see that its self-respect was maintained and that they should not rest till they extorted from the Court, their due.

Mr. Mohanlal Desai in seconding the resolution, said it was not the first time they heard of rude treatment at the hands of Mr. Athavle. Even in the Girgaum Police Court some of the pleaders' clerks were arrested and locked up the whole day and they were released only in the evening when the pleaders concerned pleaded on their behalf to let them go.

BOYCOTT ADVOCATED.

Mr. Dhondi:—What right has Mr. Athavle to lock up a man the whole day under a bailable offence? Under what section could he do so? Mr. Athavle should have been prosecuted for wrongful confinement. There should be some distinction between talk and a noise.

Mr. Banaji, Bar-at-Law, then appealed to the pleaders to be sincere and stick to the terms of the resolution. If they had any regard for their dignity and self-respect they should show it to the Magistrate. They should not look to their pockets but to the dignity of the Bar. Non-appearance in Mr. Athavle's Court would mean some sacrifice to some of his brothers but they should be prepared to do so for the sake of their self-respect. Some time ago when two or three gentlemen boycotted Mr. Athavle's Court they were laughed out but those gentlemen still remained sincere. He was glad to see that even at a late hour they had resolved to boycott Mr. Athavle's Court and he hoped they would remain firm and sincere at any cost.

Mr. Balubhai Desai said that if they wanted to take action it should be done whole-heartedly. For the sake of the prestige of the Bar they should make the sacrifice.

Mr. J. B. Patel, Bar.-at-Law, said that in Faizabad and Aligarh the courts had climbed down after the protest of the Bar. He hoped this protest and non-appearance in Mr. Athavle's Court would have salutary effect.

The resolution was then put to vote and carried unanimously.

The following resolutions were then passed unanimously:—

(1) That a committee of the following gentlemen be appointed to take all necessary steps including legal proceedings if advised in connection with the said incident. Members of the Committee:—Messrs. N. N. Saher, B. T. Desai, K. F. Nariman, M. M. Desai, C. M. Kanuga, S. B. Kapadia, Kamat R. Bhende, D. S. Babular, D. F. Dastur, V. R. Navalker, R. P. Ratnager, B. P. Pathare, D. K. Billimoria and P. N. Vijayker.

(2) That a copy of the above resolutions be forwarded to the following:—

The Chief Justice and all other judges of the High Court, the Advocate-General and the Government Pleader, the Chief and other Presidency Magistrates, the Home Member and Secretary to the Government, Home Department, the Western India Vakils' Association, the Bar Association, High Court, the Vakil Association, Small Causes Court and the Press.

A vote of thanks to the chairman terminated the proceedings.

Mr. Sharma has been a successful painter for over twenty years and he has painted scenes for several theatres in Bombay and Calcutta. He worked for many years under the late Mr. Cowasji Khatau, proprietor of the first Parsee Theatrical Company, and later on he worked for the Oriental Film Manufacturing Company. Mr. Sharma's work has invariably met with praise for its excellence. The painting of Mr. Horniman does credit to his talents as an artist.

LATE MR. KARGUPPIKAR.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

BELGAUM, Oct. 28

Mr. Krishnarao Karguppikar, a member of the All-India Congress Committee, an Secretary, the Karnatak Provincial Khadar Board, died this morning of plague. He had suspended his practice as a lawyer since the Calcutta Special Congress and devoted himself wholly to the congress work in the Karnatak. Being a great Canarese scholar, he had recently started a Canarese monthly. His premature death is a great loss to the Karnatak in general and the Belgaum district in particular. He was respected by all for his high sense of duty, unblemished character and affability. Much of the success in Congress organization and khaddar development in the Belgaum district was due to his untiring energy and example.

INDIAN VICEROYALTY.

senior partner Sir James McGrigor, who, according to the Official Receiver, reckons that the Bank's liabilities are eight hundred thousand and the assets two hundred and eighty thousand sterling. He attributes the insolvency largely to the depreciation in value of the securities and bad debts. He says that although the profit and loss account was kept, no balance-sheet was ever prepared until last August, when the first indications of the trouble arose. The Official Receiver believes that the whole of the customers' securities held in safe custody by the Bank are absolutely safe. The creditors' meeting will be held on sixth November.

The Secretary of the League of Officers in an interview before the War Office announcement was issued, stated that many customers of the Bank were in a bad plight. The League is dealing with an average number of thirty cases daily, and is assisting the most necessitous cases. Urging the War Office not to adhere to the alleged repudiation of liability, he contends that the War Department is at least morally liable. The British Legion is also making similar representations.

PROPAGATION OF SOUND.

LONDON, Oct 29.

In connection with the investigation into the propagation of sound and its relation to metereological conditions of upper air atmosphere, it was arranged, yesterday, to explode a quantity of perchlorate at Oldebroek in Holland and to observe the effects.

A message from Amsterdam states that five thousand kilogrammes of munitions were exploded at twenty minutes past five yesterday. There was only a slight damage done, windows being principally effected. The wind was blowing North-north-east. The report of the explosion was heard near Utrecht, seventy miles distant. Listeners in England do not appear to have detected the sound.

Amsterdam.—The explosion at Oldebroek occurred under the most favourable conditions—the clouds were high, the atmosphere was clear, there was a slight frost and no wind.

Five thousand kilogrammes of ammonium perchlorate were piled in a crater three metres deep and exploded by means of electric wire. The column of fire and smoke shot up to a great height with a noise like a thunderclap and lasted several minutes. No tree or plant was left standing in the area hundred and fifty metres round the crater, which now measures nine metres deep.

Paris.—Thousands were on qui vive yesterday afternoon for the Oldebroek explosion, but nothing was heard and even the most delicate instruments were not affected.

POPULATION OF LONDON.

SIMLA, Oct. 29.

Official returns of the County of London just issued give the population of the capital as 7,480,201. The area known as "Greater London" has increased its inhabitants by over half a million during the last ten years. In the administrative county consisting of the city and twenty-eight Metropolitn boroughs, the population was 4,484,533, a decrease of over thirty-seven in ten years pointing to a tendency to seek homes further from the place of work. The City, as the business heart of London is called, where many work but few sleep, it the most thinly populated for there are only 20 per acre on the most famous square mile in the world. There are now 341,365 more women than men in the administrative county, an increase of 25,922, while the proportion has risen from 1,127 per thousand men to 1,165. Nearly 26,000 of this increase is accounted for by widows. Of this number over 11,000 is in the age group twenty to thirty-nine and are nearly all war widows.

BRITISH PRISON REFORM.

SIMLA, Oct. 29.

Various interesting changes in the administration of British prisons are recorded in the annual report of prison commissioners. They include the abolition of the convict crop. All prisoners hair are now being allowd to grow normally. Broad arrows are being removed from outside prison clothing and a new style of clothing which will give better chance to self-respect is being devised. Prisoners on being transferred from one prison to another will wear civilian clothes to avoid exposure to the public. Wires and bars are being removed as far as possible from compartments in which visits are paid by relatives and friend. An hour's exercise is given daily to men under close confinement. There is an increase in the number of certificated teachers who go to prisons and teach in the evenings. Periodical lectures are now a regular feature of the prison system. Evening debates on subjects selected by convicts with the approval of the authorities are being extended. Concerts and a weekly summary of the chief events of public interests given by the Governor and the Chaplain are other features. Various other similar changes are now in operation. The Commissioners state "It is our duty as custodians of those who are for thed time forcibly separated from life in the civic community to restore them to it at least as fit as when we received them. To this end we should feel and exercise their minds as well as their bodies."

BRITISH EMPIRE EXHIBITION.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

LONDON, Oct. 27.

In a letter to the Press, the Duke of Devonshire says there exists on all hands a desire to secure the Imperial objects of the British Empire Exhibition the whole purpose of which is to demonstrate the variety and the wealth of the resources of the Empire. Difficulties of detail may be encountered from time to time but at a recent meeting with the High Commissioners of the Dominions he assured them that the Executive Council would endeavour to give practical evidence of their belief in the adequacy of those resources by utilising them to the utmost possible degree. In order to secure the closest co-operation in achieving this end, the Council to day passed a resolution as follows: "The High Commissioners and the Chairmen of the Group Committees for the Colonies and protectorates shall be invited to become members of the Executive Council. The High Commissioners shall be invited to become members of the Management Committee with the Commissioners in charge of each Dominion's exhibit as an alternate member, the policy of the Council being that materials and supplies required for service in the exhibition shall be produced within the Empire. It is resolved that a sub-committee be appointed consisting of three representatives of the Executive Council two members nominated by the High Commissioners and one representing the Colonies and protectorates to report on the best method of achieving this end."

THE "CALEDONIA" INCIDENT.

LONDON, Oct. 27.

The P. and O. Company states that the illness on the "Caledonia" was influenza. There were 70 cases most of which were mild but unfortunately two were fatal. None of the passengers was affected. The ship's surgeon was incapacitated, but Dr. Masson, from amongst the passengers, took charge of the outbreak, which had practically ended when the vessel arrived at Plymouth. He declares that it was probably due to causes existing in Bombay. The Company has telegraphed to its Agents in India ordering an enquiry into the matter.

SIR SURRENDRANATH BANERJEA writes:—This is to certify that I know Mr. Wagh and regard him as an eminent Sculptor. I have seen some of the busts executed by him, they, in my opinion, will stand comparison with similar work done by any European Sculptor.—22nd June, 1915.

SIR. SATYENDRANATH TAGORE writes:—This is to certify Mr. Wagh has executed a plaster bust of my brother, Rabindranath Tagore, which shows much more than average merit and is in fact a much better likeness than the last one done by a European Sculptor. Mr. Wagh holds several certificates for good work done by him and deserves encouragement.—10th May, 1915.

Mrs. BEASANT writes:—The Bust of Lok Tilak is an admirable and vivid likeness and is the best in my opinion. The bust of Sir Rabindranath Tagore, made by Mr. Wagh is also a pleasing likeness.

LITERATURE, THOUGHT AND FANCY.

(BY SIR FRANK BEAMAN.)

Re-construction

When I survey Europe four years after the War, the war that was to end war, the war that was to protect the justice of the weak against the injustice of the strong, the war for Right against Might, the war to vindicate the right of all men to be free, the war, as I at first fondly conceived it of Spiritual liberty against Mechanical despotism, I find little indeed to justify those inspiring Ideals, those vanished hopes. A devastated, and yet not a regenerated, world, a bankrupt world, an angry world more than ever dominated by the temper of the Jungle, a smoking ruin, a raging chaos., Is that picture too black? All the furies that the War let loose still ride free and uncurbed, but what of the ennobling spirit, the sacrifices, the sufferings, the heroisms which in the early stages of that too long drawn out drama of agony and blood, we thought must surely be the precious seeds of a rich and splendid harvest. Was it, I often wonder now, as I think in some quiet remote spot, think and try once more to catch the glowing enthusiasms, all ashes now and cold, was it after all a hideous nightmare a mere Satanic farce and delusion? Surely something better than what we see and suffer, ought to have come out of the furnace. How we talked once of the melting pot of all the stuff good and bad that was of a sudden cast into it and how surely the dross would be purged away and only the good sterling metal would remain well annealed and true. Some such faith heartened us through the interminable night, us the watchers for the dawn that seemed as though it would never come. And when it came the issue appearing fully to have warranted our belief in the righteousness of our cause, when it came and the horrors of war were transformed into the horrors of peace; what do we make of the reckoning? We boasted, we are proud and I think we did well to be proud of the sowing, is there much, yet to boast or be proud of in the reaping? In the actualities of to-day I confess I discern scant encouragement. Does any one seriously feel that the world, the Western world at any rate is better ordered and governed in this year of grace 1922 than it was in 1913? We have made a clean, or very unclean sweep of much; we have let loose many new spirits and the face of things is changed. True, so far, but is it really changed for better? Look where you will the facts are as ugly as they well can be, but in most of our public tribunals to-day facts are most discredited witnesses, if indeed they are allowed to testify at all. Better far solace our uneasy consciences, our boding souls, with blessed words and the soft anodynes of phrases. Have we not at least made the world safe for Democracy? Is not that a great and glorious achievement . . . Mesopotamia, having by a process of terrible realism, been dethroned from its honoured place as the prince of blessed words, Democracy now reigns in its stead. Though here and there some decent wraith of Monarchy still lingers, it is true, only too true that Europe is thoroughly Democratized, and if it is not safe for Democracy that will be Democracy's own fault, for it has no other foe or danger to contend with than itself and its own inherent rottenness. But are the peoples who according to the fine but absurd theory of Democracy now govern themselves, better, happier, more prosperous? . . .I should like to analyse the case of Russia, but I fear I should be shouted down. I should be told curtly that Russia was not a case of Democracy at all that nothing could well be more undemocrtic than the Government of Russia since the Revolution. Unfortunately I fear, for those who dislike awkward facts, the terror in Russia is the normal and logical conclusion of forced Democracy via Socialism. It is true that a Democracy need not be a bloody tyranny, but it is as true that carried its full length, Democracy must always be a tyranny and a tyranny of the worst and most ineluctable kind. From it there is no escape . . You can assassinate a despot, but you cannot assassinate a majority, and that the majorities of Democracy, the ruling power in theory, invariably transfer their effective practical strength in a very short time to oligarchies, professedly acting in their name, but in reality enthroned upon their necks. And now that Europe is thoroughly Democratic, now that Europe is in a hopeless muddle, worse disordered worse tempered, with wars threatening to break out along all her main points of contact, is it not permissible to ask. Has it been worth the cost? But at least we can reconstruct. That is what we are exhorted to do day in and day out. Do not sit down and wring our hands say our preceptors in pulpits and Editorial chairs, but be up and doing, gaze upon the ruins, and let them stir you to energetic action. Let us all get busy about reconstructing. . . And this is very excellent advice, if only those who are so lavish with it would give us a working plan. For my own part though this will be greeted with hootings) should like a modest programme of, literal reconstruction, that is to say a reconstitution as far as possible of the old Order—with only such necessary and gradual modifications as time and circumstance both demand and justify. But that would not suit the ardent spirits, who infected and burning with fever of haste, thinking nothing accomplished which their own eyes may not see and gloat over want to rebuild a new world upon the ruins of the old. We need not pause upon material repairs, though even here I should like to see the demolished villages and buildings, especially those sanctified by story, romance, literature and Art, remade in their old form and semblance. When Leonardo's Last Supper was fading away, when the Campanile at Venice fell, all rejoiced at the consummate skilfulness of their restoration, but if, instead, we had been offered a futorist picture, or a mill chimney. . ? But what is implied in all the screaming about reconstruction is that the best thing possible has happened, that the old world toppled and fell in rains to the thunder of guns, and the sooner we clear away the rubbish and build a new world on the old sites the better. And this again implies that the old world was only fit for the dust bin, while the New world, of which all samples so far have been rather discouraging, will be an edifice of which its eager-young archiects may well be proud; an edifice that will endure and continually grow, if not in beauty, in comfort. It was always taken for granted that the four years of War, poduced a radical change in human nature, just because it certainly did affect and seriously the nervous systems of those who were exposed to its agonising strain. Mr. Wells is I do not doubt already far advanced with his next immortal work, The Psychology of the New Age. But before you begin that kind of reconstruction (we had a deplorable foretaste of it in Mr. Wells' Salvaging of Civilization) it is just as well to make sure that there is a new age, that the world of 1922 is a new world, compared with the world of 1914, and that if there is this New World suddenly born the psychology of its peoples has also undergone a radical change? To both these questions I should hesitate to give positive affirmative answers. I do not see any signs of higher moralities dominating the Nations. Politicians are very much to-day what they were eight years ago, only distinctly worse. I suppose none will seriously deny that? While I am deafened with this rearing insisenge on the need for all round reconstruction, and half dazed to trace its handiwork, I begin to wonder whether it really means anything more than that the worse men being ex-necessitated in a vast majority are determined to oust and take the places of the better, or out to court the substiution of the mob for aristocracy in its literal and good sense? There is only one starting point for any genuine advance the reconstruction and the betterment of the heart of man. Of that will any one dare say that he sees any hopefxl signs? Will our clamorous reconstructors ponder this saying "The greatest events are not our loudest but our stillest hours. The world doth not revolve round the inventors of new noises, but round the inventors of new values"?

The Byle and the Tail Twister.

A week or two ago one hardly notes the flight of time in these secluded places, I lit upon what appeared to be one of a series of articles by my old friend Sir N. Chandavarkar. They embodied, I inferred, his morning peripatetic philosophy, as he plodded up and down the Ganesh Khind road. The theme, in this instance, was the warm affection which subsisted between the peasant driver and his patient ox. As the driver hanging on to the gratified beast's tail and giving it cunning twists urged on its flashing strength to renewed effort. Sir N. C. heard in the vocal accompaniment, only terms of loving sympathy and affectionate encouragement. What an example, he mused, to the heartless students of the adjacent Agricultural College. Do they thus coax and cajole their oxen as they speed the plough? Does not too much concentration on Science dry up the fount of human kindness and abstract from what should be the closest and friendliest of all intimacies, its most beautiful and edifying elements? And fired with the idea, it seems that Sir N. forthwith started lecturing the students, and inculcating the need of loving the dumb beasts who toil for our support. I haven't a word to say against the moral, it is entirely admirable, and I hope the students took it to heart. . . But the text? My own experience both in the country and town has been widely different. . . One must not be hasty. There a peculiar and highly favoured vocabulary in use in the Navy for example. The uninitiated would never suppose that most of it consisted of terms regarded by sailors as terms of endearment. Quite the reverse. It may be the same with the Tail Twister, but taking his words at their face value I should hardly have interpreted them in the beautiful, loving and harmonious sense of Sir Narayan. Indeed the sad impression left on my mind after hearkening to one of these fluent monologues has been one of sadness at the almost unexampled depravity of the Byle's ancestry particularly its female ancestry unto the third and fourth generation. Either the tail twisting driver must be the father of lies or the straining Byle the most profligate and depraved of the animal creation. This may be put to errors of interpretation and I daresay Sir Narayan knows best. But it is pleasant to think that there are still men like Sir Narayan whose mood of rhapsodical exaltation and overflowing good will to beast and man is such, when they take their morning walks abroad, that it translates everything through its rosy medium, and can hear none of the discords but only the harmony with which it is in tune, the sweet harmony of the spheres.

SONG IMMORTAL

"The earth is like a flower unfurled,
The sky is like a painted shell,
The Bird of Beauty wings the world,
and, therefore, all is well".

To whom the dawn denies her flower,
Of amethyst and rose.

Chant of the million mouths that starve,
The million hearts that suffer wrong.
Out of their living anguish carve,
Your live immortal song.

Prepared simply by adding hot, boiled water, Glaxo provides all the nourishment a Baby needs to make him well and strong. Miracle of Spiritualism

PLANCHETTE
RICE INCLUDING POSTAGE AND PACKING
Rs. 5-8
THIS wonderful Planchette is made of wood and is shaped like a heart. Underneath are two pantagraph wheels about two inches high. There is a hole in the so made plank of board. In this hole is fixed an ordinary pencil which is so adjusted as to form, as it were, the third leg of the Planchette. In the centre of the Planchette is fixed an electrified magnetic compound having full SPIRITUAL and MESMERIC power. (This is the special pattern of Professor N. P. Kotte. The Planchette is then placed upon a sheet of white paper and two persons lay their hands lightly upon it, not in any way influencing its motion; then, one of them or a third person, asks a question, and the wheels move. The Planchette traverses the paper, and the pencil, of course, following the motion of the wheels, write, the reply very distinctly and freely. It is not necessary to ask the question aloud, a mental question is quite sufficient, and all languages are a like to the Planchette. Our Planchette is unique. Anybody may use it. It immediately writes the answers to the questions put to it. Everybody should own a Planchette. Price Rs. 5/8 (9s.4d.) including postage and packing.
NOTE:—Full price refunded in case our Wonderful PLANCHETTE does not work according our advertisement.

REMARKABLE PRESS OPINION.
The "H. Kesari," Volume II. No. 20, Thursday, October 26:—"We have received a wonderful Planchette from Prof. Kotte for Review. Really it is a wonderful pattern of Prof. Kotte's invention. We are very much pleased to see its wonders. A person puts a question mentally or verbally and the Planchette moves on the paper and writes the answer neatly. Questions regarding the Past, the Present, and the Future may be put and answers obtained in any language. Anybody may send for this planchette from the Magical Co., Jhansi, and see the wonders."
